

IPR Follow Up Question

Although it was stated that the focus of IPR is on FY20-21, the IPR materials include spending projections that extend beyond FY21. Given that the theme of the IPR is centered around the Strategic Plan which extends through FY23, why don't all of the projections included in the IPR materials include a time horizon that continues out through, at least, FY23?

The 2018 IPR focuses on proposed programmatic costs driven by BPA's Strategic Plan that will influence the FY20-21 rate period. Due to the long-term nature of capital investments, proposed capital spending levels are planned over a 10-year period and as such are provided through FY29.
